

(c) Guide Signs

Guide signs required at construction and maintenance operations include: (1) normal directional signs and route markings, to the extent that temporary route changes are necessitated by road closing and detours; and (2) special informational signs relating to the work being done.

These signs shall be used where all traffic must exit. They are generally used in temporary installations where the mainline roadway ends at an interchange, and traffic must exit at an interchange ramp until the mainline is completed ahead. The All Traffic sign (G21-50) shall be erected at the gore of the exit and the All Traffic Exit (XX) Mile sign (G21-60) shall be erected approximately $\frac{1}{2}$ mile in advance of the gore.
